

New Website Loaded with Free Driver Safety Resources Includes Downloadable “Passport to Safe Driving”

New York, Nov. 2, 2020 -- The National Road Safety Foundation has launched an upgraded website filled with a wealth of free driver safety resources, including videos and lesson plans and a new teen/parent resource – The Passport To Safe Driving.

The site at www.nrsf.org is easy to navigate and connects users with a broad range of road safety resources. Topics include impaired driving, distraction, drowsy driving, speed and aggressive driving, occupant protection, driving skills, senior driving, and pedestrian safety. More than 100 downloadable videos range from the award-winning “The Other Breakfast Club,” a 47-minute documentary that tells the stories of six young people who met in rehabilitation during their recovery from traumatic brain injury caused by traffic crashes, to short-form videos running 3 – 7 minutes, and 30-second broadcast-ready public service announcements, including many based on scripts by teens.

The Passport To Safe Driving, free and downloadable from the new site, is a useful resource for new teen drivers and their parents. Created with input from teen leaders from SADD (Students Against Destructive Decisions), it contains driving tips for teens, accompanied by talking points for parents to use in an important dialogue with new drivers in their family. The Passport covers speeding, driving at night and in adverse weather, blind spots, negotiating left-hand turns and many other driving skills tips. It has been adopted by SADD State Coordinators, driver education teachers through ADTSEA, the national association of driver education teachers, and several state DMV’s for use with new drivers.

The site also has information about student contests sponsored by The National Road Safety Foundation, including the national Drive2Life PSA Contest, regional Drive Safe contests and contests done in conjunction with student groups SADD and FCCLA (Family, Career and Community Leaders of America). There are links to contest details, entry forms and videos by past winners.

The new site also has links to resources and information from more than three dozen traffic safety organizations, corporate safety programs and government agencies.

The website is reachable at www.nrsf.org or www.teenlane.org

The National Road Safety Foundation, Inc. (NRSF), a 501 (c)(3) non-profit organization founded nearly 60 years ago, produces free traffic safety resources that it distributes to educators, police and traffic safety advocates, community groups and individuals. It also sponsors contests to engage teens in promoting safe driving to their peers and in their communities.
